Tata Power Solar commissions 160 MW solar project in Rajasthan.

Tata Power Solar, a wholly-owned subsidiary of Tata Power, recently said it has commissioned a 160 megawatt (MW) solar project at Jetstar, Rajasthan, which will produce 387 million units of energy per year.

According to the official press release, about 675,000 monocrystalline PV modules were used in this installation.

"This project is one of the largest solar projects in Rajasthan. It will not only increase the share of renewable power in the overall energy mix of the state but also contribute its bit towards India's ambitious renewable energy targets," added the release.

The project order's scope included engineering, design, supply, construction, erection, testing, O&M, and commissioning.

Tata Power Solar, one of India's largest integrated solar companies and a wholly owned subsidiary of Tata Power, is commissioning a 160MW AC solar project at Jetstar, Rajasthan. About 6,75,000 monocrystalline PV modules have been used in this facility and it will produce 387 CU of energy per year.

The Jetstar project was completed in 15 months and is a testament to Tata Power Solar's exceptional project execution capabilities. Project engineers worked in harsh climatic conditions, including the movement of men and machinery to the project site.

The Jetstar project is one of the largest solar projects in Rajasthan. This will not only increase the share of
